VIA PAOLO SARPI · FIVE CAFÉS · ONE AFTERNOON

The Sarpi walk

Five independent places where customers come back every week and live on their phones. Walk them in this order (house numbers go up), on a weekday between 15:00 and 17:00: not at lunch, not at the weekend. About 15 minutes of walking in all.

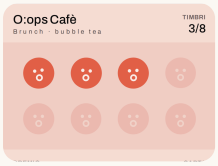

1 S'Lab

VIA PAOLO SARPI 1 · PLUS €39

Chinese bakery with French pastry and Japanese milk bread (azuki and black sesame buns, a rice-flour canelé). There's often a queue and a young crowd.

Why they'd say yes: they don't need more people at rush hour; they want the regulars back on quiet afternoons. That's what the messages are for.

Ask: The Infatuation says the owner also runs Parigi Dolci (Via Messina). If so, offer one card for both shops; Plus covers up to 3.

2 O:ops Cafè

VIA PAOLO SARPI (LISTED AT 1) · PLUS €39

Opened in 2023: brunch, coffee, bubble tea, dalgona. Young, Instagram crowd.

Why they'd say yes: still building their regulars, and new places are the most open to new tools. Show them a reel and the launch post they would get.

3 Coraçao do Brasil

VIA PAOLO SARPI 6 · START €19

Coffee shop and roastery since the 1970s, espresso from about €1, beans to take home. Now run by Chinese owners. Open 7:00 to 19:30, closed Sunday.

Why they'd say yes: daily espresso regulars fill a card fastest. Look for paper stamp cards at the till: "your paper card, on the phone" is the easiest pitch. A second card for bags of beans is an extra.

4 oTTo

VIA PAOLO SARPI 8 · PLUS €39

Bar, restaurant and coworking: big shared tables, a wall of plants, weekend brunch, aperitivo. Older listings say it opens at 10:00 and on Monday only in the evening: check first.

Why they'd say yes: people work there all day. A coffee card with 8 stamps (oTTo, number 8) and maybe a second card for coworking days.

5 QQTEA

VIA PAOLO SARPI 47 · START €19

Taiwanese bubble tea, many locals' favourite in Milan. Bubble tea people come back every week, and "10th drink free" is normal there.

Why they'd say yes: CoCo, The Alley and Chabaidao on the same street are chains with their own apps. Timbro gives QQTEA the same thing for €19.

AT THE COUNTER

What to say

"Buongiorno! Abito qui in Sarpi. Ho creato Timbro, la carta fedeltà nel Wallet del telefono, senza app. Ho già preparato una proposta per voi: posso mostrarvela? Ci vuole un minuto."

(Good afternoon! I live here in Sarpi. I made Timbro, the loyalty card in the phone's Wallet, no app. I've already made a proposal for you: can I show you? It takes a minute.)

- If the person at the till isn't the owner: "Chi è il titolare? Quando lo trovo?" (Who's the owner? When can I find them?) Leave the printed proposal and get a name and a WhatsApp number.
- Show their card on your phone (the PNG in Photos), then the proposal. Let them tap through it.
- Ask: "Usate già una carta fedeltà?" (Do you already have a loyalty card?) A pile of paper cards at the till is the best sign.
- The colours and stamps are my first guess from what they sell. Take a photo of their logo, menu and sign: I'll redo the card in their real colours for the second visit.
- If they take Start, set the card up for them on the spot anyway: ten minutes, and it's live.

Bring

- The five proposals, printed (A4, 3 pages each) or as PDFs on your phone: print/kit-<name>/proposta-<name>.pdf.
- The card pictures in your phone's Photos: print/kit-<name>/card-*-iphone.png.
- A few printed brochures and business cards (print/stampa/).

After

- Same evening: a WhatsApp or Instagram message with their card picture: "Piacere di avervi conosciuto! Ecco la vostra carta." (Nice to meet you! Here's your card.)
- After 4 to 5 days with no answer: one more message with the notifications picture and the 30 free days.

Also nearby

- Orsonero (already in your kit) reportedly opened a second café at Via Paolo Lomazzo 20, five minutes from Sarpi. Two places make your pitch stronger: check it.
- Matchatelier (Sarpi 50, bubble tea and matcha pastry, open every day from 8:30): cards and an Italian proposal are ready in print/kit-matchatelier/. Backup: Mini Konbini (Sarpi 30, Japanese snacks and drinks).
- Chains plan: Pasticceria Martesana (Sarpi 62) has several shops.
- Skip: the bubble tea chains (CoCo, The Alley, Chabaidao, Arteags) and Ravioleria Sarpi, whose queue is already long.

From web guides (Milano Segreta, The Infatuation, Scatti di Gusto, ZERO, Time Out, Mapstr, Corner, CiboToday). Hours, addresses and owners were not confirmed with the places: check before you go.